KNOX ARBORETUM

Many Attended State Field
Meet—Museum's Crying
Need

Seventy-five registered at the State field meeting Aug. 28, and as many more came late who did not register.
Those registering were from these towns and cities: Passumpsic, Vt.; Union, Thomaston, Rockland, Augusta, Warren, Fairfield, Hineley, Skowhegan, Orono, Casco, Glen Cove,
Rumford, South China, Friendship, Hampden, Milo, Sanford, North Haven, South Thomaston, New York, Greenwich, Conn.; Brooklyn; Boston,
Brookline, and Worcester.

Visitors at the Arboretum Sunday,
September 1st came from Warren,
Thomaston, Biddeford, Rockland,
Camden, Rockport and Friendship;
Watertown, Mass.; New Orleans;
Rochester, N. H.; Allentown, Pa.
Everybody had words of praise for the new fire-proof museum building,
the first story of which is nearing completion. But to finish up inside with ceiling and wall plaster, put in doors and windows, lay a rubber carpet and run the concrete second floor (which is to serve also as roof)
and give this two coats of asbestos paint, and wire for electric lights will require about $3,000 more than we have thus far been able to collect in.

Now, good people of Knox County,
this is not a very large amount to raise and we feel confident that you will respond as generously as possible to this—our last—call for help this season. All contributions from one to one thousand dollars will be thankfully received and acknowledged in these columns. Please send checks or cash to our treasurer, Ensign Otis, Rockland.

Remember, this is a State Institution of Natural Science and Art that we are establishing here in our own County. And this institution needs a "home" that it can move into this fall.

THE WORST SUMMER

The MacMillan Expedition,
Homeward Bound, Runs
Into Heavy Ice

Lieut. Commander Donald B. Mac-Millan, now on his way home from the Arctic where his party has spent the summer, has radioed Hiram W.
Ricker that "we have never had a worse" summer.

"Nothing but fog, rain and now
ice, which blocks progress completely." The message which was picked up and relayed by Clifford B. Himco, radio operator for the MacMillan expedition last year, said: "We are caught in a small harbor on the north side of Probiher Bay and can't get out until we have a change of weather. A few days ago the Bowdoin (the MacMillan schooner) was badly squeezed and lifted almost completely out of the water. Her staunch construction saved her. This is no place for summer boarders."

Apparently the message was sent some time ago, as last week a message was received from a member of the party stating that the Bow-doin has started her homeward journey.

Are You Going Away On Your Salary or On Part of Your Savings?

If you had begun to deposit even as little as a dollar a week in this Bank twelve months ago and skipped no intervening weeks you would have today
a snug sum, part of which might be used for vacation, that's what saving on a system means.

But that is not all that systematic saving does—it encourages thrift, creates ambition and increases self-respect. If you depend on your salary for your daily expense the daily expense will probably eat it all up. If you save you'll deny yourself unconsciously. Start that first dollar working today.

MR. BOK'S TELEGRAM

"Only One Common Sense
Opinion—That of Voting
'Yes' Next Monday"

To the list of notable men who have voiced their support of the Smith-Carlton Bill for the export of surplus water power, now is added the name of Edward W. Bok, Philadelphia editor, Knox County summer resident,
author and philanthropist, who voluntarily states that in his belief there can be only one common sense opinion—a vote of "Yes" at the special election Monday.

Mr. Bok is a native of Holland but a true 100 per cent adopted American.
Although he is not a voting resident of Maine, he has been one of the outstanding benefactors to the State and his contributions to worthy causes here have earned him the lasting friendship of the people of Maine.

A telegram sent by Mr. Bok from his summer home said:

"Reading as I have the past few weeks about the extra power which Maine generates and for which she has no use herself—power which she could export to her neighboring states with a profit to her own citizens—it has been incomprehensible to me that there should be two opinions on this question.

"In business we do not waste extra product, we sell it to others. Why should a municipality do otherwise and let go to waste a good marketable product and thus benefit no one?"

"I have for a number of years
known the people of Maine and am confident their common sense will govern in this matter and vote to support their Legislature in this question on which, as I said before,
there can be only one common sense opinion—that of voting 'Yes' at the special election Monday."

FROM E. M. LAWRENCE

I believe the Fernald Law is out of tune with our times. It was passed originally as a purely political measure and has outlived its purpose. It has accomplished nothing except to advance the political fortunes of a number of mediocre politicians. The business men of our State should be given an opportunity to show what they can do.

WE WANTERKNOW!

GENERAL GEORGE ULMER

Information Desired Respecting An Office of Revolutionary Fame

Editor of The Courier-Gazette:—

Could any of your readers give me information in regard to my great-grandfather, Gen. George Ulmer?
He settled at Ducktrap, was of Revolutionary fame and was a contemporary of Gen. Knox.

He died at Ducktrap and was buried there, but later was removed to the Masonic lot in the Camden cemetery.
He was the first master of the Masonic Lodge in Camden.

I should like to know where and when he was born, who his wife was and where she was born. Any additional information which anyone can give me would be much appreciated.

Thanking you for calling this to your readers' attention.

(Mrs.) Julia Annis Marshall.

wet end of a cigarette.—Rev. Fred
A. MacDonald.

A POSTPONEMENT

The opening of Rockland High School and Junior High School has been postponed one week to Sept. 16, owing to the fact that the new wings are not quite in readiness. The schools at Camden, Grace and Crescent streets
will not open until Tuesday morning, owing to the fact they will be used Monday as voting places. All other schools in the city will open next Monday (Sept. 9) as originally planned.
This notice is given officially by Supt. E. L. Toner.

SPOKE AT ROTARY

Dr. Farrington Dealt With Psychology In Application
To Insanity

Dr. Ernest A. Farrington, of Owl's
Head and Haddonfield, N. J., head of the Bancroft School and himself a Rotarian, was the speaker at yesterday's Rotary Club luncheon, and was warmly greeted when he stood up to speak, both because he is a gifted gentleman and has been a welcome
visitor at the noonday sessions throughout the summer. His address discussed the reasons why people go crazy.

The ancients thought the mentally unsound were favored by the gods;
later that they were possessed by evil spirits—so the poor unfortunate was ducked in water and beaten with rods to drive out the devil; and later
still confined to cruel asylums, typified by Bedlam.

Today the light of psychology is turned upon this condition and gives an understanding of what happens in a person that extremes of nature throw out of mental balance. The speaker noted the two qualities of self-assertion and self-submission and illustrated how along each line
a person developed the quality of insanity. He found growth of the condition among young people by wrong upbringing through unbalanced education. How to avoid this is one of the grave problems of our modern day. Dr. Farrington's able and informing address was warmly applauded.

Visiting Rotarians at the meeting
besides the speaker included Al.
Goodhue, Belfast, Cyrus H. K. Curtis,
Burlington, Dr. C. H. Jameson, Camden, Prof. Karl D. Lee, Thomp-sonville, Conn. and the guests were Dr. C. B. Popplestone, Swan's Island, and Raymond Levensaler, San Francisco. Allusion to Mr. Curtis' connection with the meeting is noted in another column.

LAST SEPTEMBER TERM

Opens Next Tuesday and Has the Earmarks of a Busy 10-Days Session

When Knox County Supreme Court
convenes in this city next Tuesday forenoon it will literally mark the beginning of the end, for it will be the last term of the Supreme Court to be held here, probably for all time. With the coming of the new year Knox County will be included in the jurisdiction of the Superior Court, which will hold its terms here on February,
June and October.

To Associate Justice William R.
Pattangall of Augusta will fall the distinction of conducting this county's last Supreme Court term.
Clerk of Courts Griffin cast a critical eye over the situation yesterday,
and foresees a term which may last longer than 10 days, but probably not less.

The civil entries will be quite heavy, with about the usual trial list resulting.
The criminal docket will run heavy,
with a possible trial of the Union manslaughter case and a case in which assault with intent to kill is charged. It is understood that Attorney General Robinson will act in conjunction with County Attorney Campbell while these important cases are on trial.

Thirteen applications for citizenship are pending, which means a very busy naturalization day—the second day of the term.

The usual number of divorce cases
are pending.

MANAGER DODGE

Albert Dodge, whose portrait appears above is a member of the Senior class of Rockland High School
taking the classical course and specializing now and then in school dramatics. Just now his shoulders have taken on added cares, for he is manager of the school's football team.

What are the wild waves saying?
Study his genial countenance, and you will probably agree with the writer that he is wondering how many games Rockland will win in that schedule this paper recently published; also if the season's receipts will equal the season's expenses. The first call for candidates was productive of 25 candidates.

BENEFIT TO ROCKLAND

Export Power Bill Endorsed
By Pres. Wood of the Lime
Corporation

Notices have been posted in the various plants of the Rockland & Rockport Lime Corp. reading as follows:

"To the employees of the Rockland & Rockport Lime Corporation.

"On Monday, Sept. 9, there is to be an election. Among other questions to be decided is whether or not surplus power may be exported from Maine.

"After careful study of this question, we are asking the people who work for the Rockland & Rockport Lime Corporation to vote 'Yes' on the export power law.

"The law which now prevents surplus power from being sold outside of Maine is unreasonable, unfair, and hinders the State's progress. It makes fewer jobs and less money.
Approval of the export power law will help correct this situation.

"The export power law will bring money into the State. It will help make power and light cheaper. You can light your homes for less money.
We and other business men can buy power at lower rates. More power will be developed. More factories will be built. There will be more work for all.

"We do not interfere in the politics of our employees. This is not politics.
It is business. It will help our business to have the export power law passed.

"We therefore ask you to vote 'Yes'
on Monday, Sept. 9, on the Export Power Law.

Rockland & Rockport Lime Corp.
George E. Wood, President."

It is a new departure for the management of the Lime Corporation to make recommendations to its employees with regard to their individual votes. Commenting on this action, President Wood makes the following statement:

"The City of Rockland, located on tidewater, with a good harbor and favored by nature with its inexhaustible supply of high calcium limestone, needs only cheap electric power available in large quantities to make it the logical location for one or more new industries, particularly those employing electrochemical processes, which require lime and cheap electric power.

"It is entirely probable to predict that if such an industry were established in Rockland it would be accompanied with dredging and wharf construction which would make the City of Rockland a deep-water port, having all the advantages of cheap
water transportation by deep draft ocean steamships.

Electro-chemical industries of the type mentioned require continuous quantities of electric power, greater than any other industry. I am told that the Central Maine Power Co. is now able to offer for immediate delivery. If the proposed law becomes effective, authorizing the restricted sale of surplus power outside the State of Maine, it will then be good business policy for the Central Maine Power Co. to greatly enlarge its developed power capacity and have available a sufficient surplus ready to offer such new industries for immediate use when ever the opportunity arises.

"I am convinced that passage of the Power Export Law will result in both cheaper electric power and available surplus power which may benefit the City of Rockland more than any other community in the State."

IS TWICE HONORED

Rockland Man Is Again President of Association of Municipal Judges

Judge Frank B. Miller of the Rockland Municipal Court was re-elected president of the Maine Association of Municipal Court Judges at the fifth annual meeting held at Belgrade Lakes Thursday. Judge J. Bennett Pike of Bridgton was elected first vice president, and Judge Harry Crandtree of Ellsworth, second vice president; Judge Arthur F. Tilton of the Augusta Municipal Court is the secretary and treasurer. The executive committee comprises Judges Max L. Pinansky of Portland, Harold Bourne of Kennebunk and Charles W.
Atchley of Waterville.

Short addresses by the guest speakers, a round-table discussion of mutual problems and a noon lunchon were features of the session. At the luncheon, which was held in the main dining room of the Belgrade
Hotel, the speakers included Justice Warren C. Philbrook of the Supreme Judicial Court, Attorney General
Clement S. Robinson, Kennebec
County Attorney Frank E. Southard
and Judge J. E. Hall of Caribou.
Judge Hall was founder of the association and its president for the first three years.

Other guests present at the lunch-
on besides the ladies were Judge
William H. Fisher of the Kennebec
Superior Court and Mrs. Fisher, Fred
H. Lee, court reporter, and Samuel Smith of the State Auditors Department. Mr. Smith spoke at the business session on "Appointments of Fines and Costs on Motor Vehicle
Law Cases."

TENANT'S HARBOR DAYS

In checking the roster of the pupils who attended the Old Red Schoolhouse the winter of 1876, with Fred
A. Alden schoolmaster I find that,
"Some are in the church yard laid,
Some sleep beneath the sea."

And some, I am in doubt as to whether living or dead. Can any readers of The Courier-Gazette give that information with regard to the following named scholars:

Levi G. Robinson, Clarence, Herbert and Percy Bickmore, Gilderoy
Granville, Nora, Crandon, Frank
Wheeler, Chester and Lucy Farnham, Julia Seavey, Alice Blake, Clara and Emma Simmons.

Their one-time schoolmate,
Boze
70 Porter St., Somerville, Mass.

CYRUS HERMANN KOTZSCHMAR CURTIS

Of Philadelphia, Distinguished Publisher and Philanthropist, Who Has Just Added $50,000 To His Many Other Handsome Gifts To the Knox County
General Hospital

GIVES FIFTY THOUSAND DOLLARS

Cyrus H. K. Curtis Contributes To Endowment Fund of the Knox County General Hospital

A matter of deep interest to the people of this community was contained in the announcement made by one of the members at yesterday's weekly luncheon of the Rotary Club, that Cyrus H. K. Curtis had made a gift of $50,000 to the Knox County General Hospital, to be applied to the endowment fund
of that institution.

Mr. Curtis, who is an honorary member of the Camden Rotary Club, was present at the luncheon and on the announcement of his gift was made the recipient of a prolonged ovation. In response he expressed his interest in the local hospital, which serves a large need;
both in winter and summer, and deserves the support that an endowment fund will insure.

"The hospital needs such a fund of $200,000," he said, "and I am glad to contribute to it. The amount additional to my subscription it ought not to be difficult to procure. It is up to you men of the Rotary Club and others to see that the hospital is properly supported through this permanent agency of an endowment fund.

Everybody can give to it at least a little, and everybody in the community ought to be glad to do so."

Mr. Curtis' gift is made in the seven percent preferred stock of the Curtis Publishing Company, assuring the hospital from that source an annual income of $3,500.

This is the third time that Mr.
Curtis has handsomely contributed to the Knox County General Hospital. In 1926 he gave $16,000 toward the fund raised to complete the building and equipment of the hospital. Last year he contributed $50,000 in the successful campaign for a fund to discharge the hospital's accumulated debt, making the total of his gifts $116,000.

HE HARKS BACK

Arthur Thomas Recalls That
Other Portland Encampment 44 Years Ago

Editor of The Courier-Gazette:—

I see by your paper that the Grand Army is to hold its National Encampment in Portland. It was 44 years ago last June that the last encampment was held there. I can remember when Grand Army hall was just a little way below Limerock street on the east side of Main street. They formed a line in front of the hall.
Among the officers were John Thomas, Cad Cross, John Crocker, Wyman Umer, Oliver J. Conant. I cannot remember if Col. L. D. Carver was an officer or not; he had an officer's uniform on. The old Rockland Band was under the leadership of Chas. Gale, who played clarinet; Dr.
Maynard S. Austin, Bert Maddocks, base tubers; Alie McDonald, barito-tone; James O'Neil, Jake Stewart,
Mr. Pendleton, alto; John Karl, Mr.
Smith, tenor; G. Fred Meservey, John Doherty, Will Abbott, Con. Rising, cornets, Bart Labbe, tenor drum.
Arthur S. Thomas carried the front end of the bass drum and Wyman Umer was drum major. These are all I can remember.

Edwin Libby Post turned out in big numbers. It marched to Tillson wharf and got aboard of the Steamer Lewiston, and when I happened to look into the pilot house I saw Capt. Orris Ingraham, whom I knew well. He was the pilot that night. It was interesting to hear him explain the distance from one lighthouse to the other, and so on. He was a fine man. We arrived in Portland about midnight. We were up early in the morning and the Grand Army formed a line and marched up to Munjoy Hill
and had breakfast.

That place was completely covered with tents. We loafed around for quite a while. I cannot tell what time the parade did start. There was one thing which took place that I never will forget. It was to see Gen. John A. Logan and Gen. Davis Tilston salute each other. They were fine looking officers and were on horseback. After we got back to camp and had supper the band came home that night, but the Grand Army stayed over the rest of the week. We were a tired lot of young fellows, but we had a fine time.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Tibbets and Mr. and Mrs. Harland Hoffes went to Bingham last Sunday to see the dam, which is being constructed there.

Mrs. Eda Flagg and Mrs. Angie Cunningham attended a party last week given by Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Hall at Warrenton Park, Rockland.

The 39th annual harvest home supper and sale was held at Willow Grange hall last Friday. Two hundred and fifty attended the supper and even then there was chicken to spare.

Friends of Ami Fish were pleased to see him out and at the fair in Windsor last Monday after being seriously ill at his home for several weeks.

Mrs. John Andrews has returned to her home here after an absence of four years. Mr. Andrews came in the spring.

The boys and girls' camps of Mr. and Mrs. Adelbert Andrews closed last week. It is a wonderful spot where these camps are located, on Damariscotta lake for Jefferson lake as some people call it, and those who have never visited it have missed a rare treat. Also those who would like a beautiful view of the lake should ride up Bunker hill on some fine day.

The Ridgeway camp for girls closed last week, and that is also a wonderful spot, located on Clarry lake. If looking for a delightful view see that lake at sunset.

This town was well represented at the fair at Windsor, Labor Day. It was a good fair and there was an attendance of 10,000.

Mrs. Nellie Richardson was given a surprise Sept. 3. She was invited for a short ride and was taken to the home of Mrs. Jennie Tibbets where a few friends had gathered to celebrate her birthday.

There are moving pictures every Thursday evening at Willow Grange hall.

Rev. and Mrs. E. Sampson have returned from a trip to Dover-Foxcroft and Phillips, accompanied by Mrs. Abbie Hutchins of Phillips and Mrs. Lottie Lovejoy of Seattle, Wash.

Mrs. Matilda Weeks and Phyllis Pitcher have returned from a vacation at Cundy's Harbor.

Nelson Bond of New York has been visiting his grandmother, Mrs. Ella Bond.

Rev. and Mrs. Steele Bryant and daughter Dorothy have returned to Pawtucket, R. I.

Rev. Charles Titus of Wiscasset is visiting Mrs. J. D. Thurston.

conducted the services at the Wavus camp last Sunday.

A pretty wedding occurred Aug. 31 at the home of the officiating clergyman, Rev. Francis Hale of South Jeff, when Miss Martha E. Moody of Windsor became the bride of A. Basil Achorn of Jefferson. The wedding service being used. She is attended by Bryan Hodgkins, a cousin of the groom, and Miss Doris E. Moody the bride's sister. The bride was becomingly gowned in peach georgette ensemble. Her bridesmaid wore an orchard georgette ensemble. The groom's present to his bride was a beautiful wrist watch. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John H. Moody of Windsor, and the groom the son of Mrs. Fannie Achorn of Jefferson. The bridal couple left early Sunday morning by auto for a short trip to Canada. They will make their home in Jefferson.

Good congregations greet the pastor, Rev. Mr. Howes, each Sunday. "Following Christ" was the subject of the morning discourse, Sept. 1. The evening service was well attended. Those who had the pleasure of attending the church school picnic last week at the foot of Seven Tree Pond report a good time.

Miss Harriet Williams who has been spending the summer vacation at her home here, returned Saturday to her school work at Kent's Hill.

Alvah Robbins of Medford, Mass., spent the weekend and holiday with his family at South Union.

The Hawkes family who have been occupying the Stickney cottage returned Saturday to their home in Belmont.

Miss Susie Vaughan of Augusta is visiting Mrs. J. D. Thurston.

TENANTS HARBOR

A fine piece of concrete walk has just been completed in front of the High School building, the work being done by E. I. Pease and Harold Hupper. They have also just finished walks for Mr. Tabbutt and Mrs. Wheeler.

Kitzbuehel in Austria is not only famous as one of the greatest skiing centers of Europe in the winter, but though the snow be three or four feet deep, winds are almost unknown, while the sun is continual.

THE REALM OF MUSIC

Gladys St. Clair Morgan

The Northern Conservatory of Music opens in Bangor today. This Conservatory, the outgrowth of the recent purchase by the Bangor Symphony Orchestra and the Bangor Band of the building on Union street, formerly used by the University of Maine as its Law College, is housed in the Union street quarters which have become the musical center of the city. It is not an extra activity of the orchestra, but several members of the orchestra are among the incorporators. Teachers at the conservatory will be both members and non-members, an attempt having been made to secure as far as possible a balanced curriculum and staff. A feature much appreciated is the transfer to this building of the splendid musical department of the Bangor Public Library, which is now available at a moment's notice to musicians. It has been announced that a pipe organ is to be installed shortly, thus placing at the disposal of students an instrument which has been very difficult to secure for practice.

The faculty of the conservatory will include specialists in the various branches of musical education, and the program will offer individual and class lessons with particular opportunities for ensemble work.

Among the prime movers in this enterprise are Prof. Adelbert Wells Sprague, conductor and conductor of the Bangor Symphony Orchestra, Frederic W. Adams, chairman of the trustees of the Symphony Endowment Fund, and A. Stanley Cayting, who has for many years cherished a vision which now seems well on the way to realization, and who was the first teacher to move into the new building. They have been aided in the preliminary steps by Benjamin Mausert of Philadelphia, who has been summing in this State, and who has devoted considerable time to a consideration of the problems of the project. Mr. Mausert now heads a school in Philadelphia and founded schools in Schenectady, N. Y., and Harrisburg, Penn.

While Miss Ellen Cochran of this city was in Bluehill, the guest of her sister, she had the pleasure of attending the concert given by the artists of Kneisel hall, founded and established there by the late Franz Kneisel for the benefit of violin students, the work now being carried on by his children Frank and Marianne.

The concert took place under the direction of Frank and Marianne Kneisel, assisted by Mrs. William Houston Green, Luther Gloss and the Misses Vandenberg, Karmen and Jean Allen. The occasion was particularly brilliant one this year.

The setting was perfect in every detail, a glorious day enhancing the enjoyment of those on the spacious verandas where chairs had been placed to accommodate the crowds which more than taxed the capacity of the hall. Many music lovers came from Bar Harbor, Seal Harbor, Ellsworth, Castine, Bangor and Portland.

The concert was given for the benefit of the Bluehill Memorial Hospital which was partially destroyed by fire last June. Tickets were $5 for summer visitors and $3 for townspeople. Approximately $1,000 was realized.

There is one profession that appears hopelessly barred to the fair sex, and that is piano tuning, according to the opinion of members of the National Piano Tuners who recently met in convention at Chicago. It is largely due to the inspiration and enthusiasm of Bainbridge Crist, who lives at South Yarmouth, and to the unusual executive ability of Mrs. Maude T. Sanborn, president.

"Eleven years ago Bainbridge Crist came to live at South Yarmouth. At that time he offered to donate his services as conductor of a musical society. After four years in Europe, he returned again to his home on the Cape, and a year ago last February Mrs. Sanborn suggested that they form a musical society. Mr. Crist repeated his offer, and Mrs. Sanborn undertook to find voices. Within three weeks she had 40 members, and they commenced to rehearse at the end of March. Their first concert was given at the Masonic Temple, Hyannis. The program was a difficult one. The music was Russian, by Moussorgsky, Rimsky-Korsakoff, Borodin, Sokoloff and Rachmaninoff. The concert was a great success, and the hard work put in on rehearsals by Crist and the society was more than justified by the results.

"In your article of Aug. 27 in the Esplanade, you asked the question: 'Did any Rockland people by chance hear one or more of these concerts?' We cannot qualify as 'simon-pure' Rocklandians, but did attend a number of the concerts. What the lady wrote about them is true. The people were there to listen to the music, and they did; not an outside sound marred that. We were there the evening of July 17 when Gen. Gouraud, the French hero, came upon the platform with his staff. It certainly was a grand sight, and one long to linger in the memory of those who witnessed it, but did not attend the last concert, but did attend the last next door did. I heard the speeches over the radio; Mrs. Crocker could not hear them. We music lovers hope for more than five weeks of the same music in 1930."

Vernon Dalhart was the featured artist of the Majestic Hour last Sunday evening has many ardent admirers, as he is probably one of the most popular radio artists, excepting of course the "one and only" Rudy. Dalhart fascinates just what you don't know. Perhaps it is because he has such a punch in his comedy songs, such pathos in his ballads. Perhaps the quaint accompaniments of jewsarp, violin (or it is a fiddle), whistling, or harmonica adds in the charm.

Dalhart was born in Texas where at the age of three initiated his ducky by playing the harmonica and the fiddle. At 12 he was punching cattle and crooning cowboy songs; at 14 he was working in a Dallas hardware store and singing blithely behind the counter. A customer heard him, offered to take him for a musical education, and in a short time Dalhart was holding a position in a church choir.

Ambitious, the young Texan came to New York, reaching the city clad in a wide-brimmed black hat, khaki shirt and checkered trousers. He got a job in the shipping office of a large piano house, spent all his spare money on a musical education, and at the end of five years was on the road with an opera company. Dalhart had one big ambition, and that was to make records. For seven years he tried and finally got a five-minute appointment with Thomas Edison. The five minutes lengthened to two hours, during which Dalhart sang one of his songs through an old-fashioned phonograph horn into the ear of the deaf inventor. Even that interview did not get his name on any records, but a short time later "Can't You Hear Me Calling, Caroline" did please Mr. Edison, and Dalhart was started on his record career. Not long after came "The Prisoner's Song," which brought Dalhart fame, fortune and demands for more heart-throb songs. He has found abundant material in the songs of the South and Southwest.

Who heard Dan Beddoe sing over the radio last Sunday evening? To me it recalled the time he was one of the soloists at the Maine Music Festival, several years ago, and of all his songs "Monte Carlo" remained the freshest in my memory. His voice still retains its remarkable timbre and ringing power.

A world musical festival, to be held in New York during the winter of 1930-31, is being planned by Frederick N. Sard, who organized the Beethoven centennial of 1927 and the Schubert centennial of 1928. Frederic W. Adams, chairman of the trustees of the Symphony Endowment Fund, and A. Stanley Cayting, who has for many years cherished a vision which now seems well on the way to realization, and who was the first teacher to move into the new building. From a recent issue of the Boston Sunday Globe:

An enthusiastic group of Cape Cod singers led by Bainbridge Crist, conductor, have established a choral society on the Cape that is unique and whose influence is certain to be felt through musical America. Less than six months after their first meeting the Cape Cod Choral Society gave its first concert, and next winter, not quite two years since its inception, they plan to give the opera "Cavalleria Rusticana."

"There are no professional voices in this society, composed of Cape Cod people; they are independent and self-supporting. There are no patrons underwriting the venture. There is no imported talent. The society belongs to the Cape and is of the Cape, from the lowest bass to the highest soprano."

There is one profession that appears hopelessly barred to the fair sex, and that is piano tuning, according to the opinion of members of the National Piano Tuners who recently met in convention at Chicago. It is largely due to the inspiration and enthusiasm of Bainbridge Crist, who lives at South Yarmouth, and to the unusual executive ability of Mrs. Maude T. Sanborn, president.

THE "TATER" PICKERS

Hundreds of Them Heading Toward Aroostook's Profitable Fields

More than the usual number of potato pickers from southern and eastern Maine will work in Aroostook potato fields this fall, according to inquiries which have been received at the Aroostook Farm Bureau office, Presque Isle. This is the judgment of a special committee chosen from the executive board of the Farm Bureau to investigate the labor situation as it applies this season.

Blueberry pickers in Washington and other counties, the committee says, are particularly interested in the prospects of making a shift after the blueberry harvest which in most sections is completed by September 15. Pickers are agreed upon by the grower and the picker, yet as in former years, the special committee of the Farm Bureau suggests a uniform price as a guide for both parties. Prices last year were eight cents per barrel with board and ten cents per barrel without board. That this will be a reasonable basis for compensation this year.

While many pickers will go by auto to Aroostook, others will go by train. Two days picking, it is said, will usually reimburse those who travel by train from southern points in southern and eastern Maine.

As in previous years some pickers will carry camp equipment which will allow them to retain the extra saving. Others will board with the grower or a nearby family.

Not all of the pickers, the committee says, will seek in the fall primarily to make money. Some look upon it as an opportunity to see Northern Maine and particularly the potato fields with little or no expense.

Scott Kittredge arrived here Saturday from New York and returned there Sunday by automobile accompanied by his wife and son who have been visiting her parents Mr. and Mrs. George Green during August.

Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Crowley and children enjoyed an automobile trip Saturday to Danvers, Mass., returning Monday. Mrs. Crowley's sister, Miss Jeanie McConechie accompanied them home after visiting her sister Mrs. John Stanton for two months during which time she enjoyed several delightful camping trips including one through the White Mountains, and also to Montreal and Quebec.

Mr. and Mrs. William Blanchard and children of Hartford, were guests Monday of the Butler family for the day and looking up as many old friends as possible in the meantime.

Lane Thorndyke of Camden is guest of his brother, F. K. Thorndyke, Mr. and Mrs. Chester Rackford and family who are guests for a week of his mother at Waterman's Beach here Tuesday.

Earl and James Hopkins and two friends of Massachusetts were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Hopkins over Labor Day.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Snow of Portland were weekend guests of his mother Mrs. Georgia Snow.

A large number from Wewaskeag Grange attended the picnic Sunday given by Lincolnville Grange at Waterman's Beach, many making the trip by boat.

Wilbur Stamp left Monday for Worcester after visiting his sister Miss Hazel Stamp for a week. Mr. Stamp has been engaged in recruiting for the U. S. Navy for some time and is now located in Worcester.

Miss Helen Sleeper returned Monday to Bridgewater, Mass., to resume her teaching position. She was accompanied by her mother, Mrs. W. P. Sleeper.

The Sunday School held a lawn party Tuesday afternoon at the home of the superintendent, Mrs. A. F. Sleeper, it being the closing event in an attendance contest which has been carried on since July 7. The children were divided into two groups the Reds and Blues, with Marion Watts captain of the Reds, Percy Young captain of the Blues. The Blues won, having had the largest average attendance. The total average attendance for both groups was 36. The grounds were prettily decorated with red and blue crepe paper streamers and two long tables set under the great chestnut trees similarly decorated. Games furnished amusement until refreshments of strawberry ice cream and cake were served, after which the children grouped themselves about their greatly beloved Mr. and Mrs. Rehme who entertained them for an hour with story telling.

Mrs. Isabel Jackson, Mrs. Lott Crowley, Mrs. R. W. Tyler and Mrs. Ella Watts were the Sunday School teachers assisting Mrs. Sleeper in the affair.

J. P. Norton is visiting his family here for a week.

Tuesday night, in spite of the very threatening sky and showers, a group of citizens gathered at the church for a social get-together with the Rev. Arthur C. Rehme and his bride as guests of honor. After a short program, Mrs. Harvey Crowley presented the happy couple with a tangible proof of the love and esteem of the townspeople in the form of a hand-drawn photograph of the couple's head and shoulders. Both Mr. and Mrs. Rehme held a very enviable place in the hearts of the people, as it was here their romance began last summer while he was serving as supply pastor for this charge and she as Bible School teacher. Both giving so willingly of their time and talents that much good was realized especially among the children of the village. It is very gratifying to know that they will be located in a prosperous Methodist Church near Buffalo, N. Y., in a fine new parsonage built and furnished especially for them. Many predict that Mr. Rehme will go very high in his chosen profession, while both Mr. and Mrs. Rehme have received degrees at Boston University and are equally well fitted for their duties.

Friends will be glad to learn that Cleveland Sleeper, Jr., who recently underwent a very serious operation for appendicitis in a Boston hospital is much improved and is now at the home of his sister Mrs. David Mason in Boston and expected home soon.

Mrs. C. L. Sleeper entertained ten ladies Thursday afternoon at her home here, the feature of the gathering being a demonstration of Wear Ever Aluminum by a representative of that company who prepared and served a very nice lunch.

SOUTH THOMASTON

Earle Anderson of Worcester, was the guest of his grandparents Mr. and Mrs. Frank Wade Saturday. Mr. Anderson spent much of his boyhood in South Thomaston and welcomes every opportunity to visit his people here. He is a member of the Naval Reserves so when in the course of his annual cruise with that body his ship made port at Bangor naturally he spent his "leave in the Keak."

The annual picnic of the Sunday School was held Wednesday at Whitcomb's Beach and was largely attended. Exactly 70 sat down to dinner. Bathing and other water sports were the chief diversion.

Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Sleeper and daughters, Susie and Helen, enjoyed a delightful auto trip last week through the various points of interest in the White Mountains and Vermont. Mr. Sleeper especially enjoyed visiting the granite industries and renewing friendships with old friends.

Mrs. Hattie Clark of Massachusetts is the guest of her sister, Mrs. Leonard Young for two weeks.

Mrs. Gladys Clements and children returned Sunday to their home in Winthrop, Mass., after making an extended visit with relatives here.

Friday night the usual supper given by the V.I.S. was well attended and followed by a very fine entertainment consisting of numbers by both local and visiting artists. About $45 was realized.

Mr. and Mrs. Roswell Allen and children returned Saturday to their home in Winthrop.

Friday morning the Rev. and Mrs. Arthur C. Rehme of Buffalo, N. Y., arrived for a short visit with friends here.

THE STORY OF APPLETON

As Told At Centennial Celebration, Aug. 21, By the Historian, J. Asbury Pitman, of Salem, Mass.

[Third Installment]

[Fourth Installment]

The town, and many individual families, have been under great obligations to many others who have done much to promote the educational interests of the community. Among these efficient public servants of another day are Thomas Gushue and Oliver Butler, and later, Frank Wentworth, all of whom were efficient directors of the educational interests of the town as supervisors of schools. Oliver Butler, particularly, was a man of vision, but his oft-repeated prophecy that undoubtedly at least one pupil in the school that he was addressing would, one day, be President, remains unfulfilled.

Rev. J. R. Bowler, minister of the gospel and beloved teacher, is still remembered with gratitude by his former pupils. Lona Ross and Albert Fuller were also teachers of marked ability. All of these, at one time or another, taught on the Ridge in the old original first district where, for one winter at least, under the instruction of Mr. Bowler, were more than 100 so-called scholars.

For many years, the plantation was without a church, but religious services were held in the homes and in the two or three schoolhouses which were then in existence. These scattered meetings led, in 1816, to the establishment of the present Baptist Church which, as an organized body, continued to hold its meetings in the schoolhouses within the territory that it served. The following quotations from the early records of the church are of interest:

"Following the revival of religion in the plantation of Appleton and the north part of Hope, vice and immorality abounding, the people united, it pleased Almighty God, by his servant, Elder John Roundy, and adopted the Articles of the Regular Calvinistic Baptist and were organized into a church state by the following Elders and Brethren, on the 30th of October, 1816."

"Brother Fuller, (William Oliver Fuller) moderator." Among the "Elders and Brethren" were Phineas Butler, (discerned preacher), Noah Sprague and Noah Sprague, Jr., Daniel Linekin, Joshua Linekin, William Meservey, Otis Hawes, William Arnold, Albert Arnold, Fergus McLain, Lewis McLain, Samuel Davis, Oliver Simmons and William Linekin, (one of the deacons). And shortly after the church was organized, there appeared on the rolls the names of practically all the influential men in the community and, of course, those of their wives.

It is easy for some of us who are no longer young to recall the presence in the church of some of these and of other venerable men and women of the next later generation, even to the exact location of their pews. In our imagination, there they sit, as of yore,—Deacons Hall, Dyer and Chapman and their families; Zebedee and "Aunt Lorinda" Simmons; and "Uncle Noah" Sprague, with his tuning-fork, as he led the congregational singing.

Feb. 13, 1820, it was voted to receive Abiathar Richardson and Hannah Richardson as members of this church upon presenting their dismission from the church in Jefferson. It was also voted to have Elder Richardson "to preach with us this season," and that William Arnold be added to the committee to settle with Elder Richardson and to "git" something subscribed.

Sept. 16, 1820, it was voted to "chuse" Brothers Phineas Butler, Wm. Linekin, Lewis Clark, Palatiah Pease and Wm. Arnold as a committee to meet the Council to ordain Mr. Richardson. (He had previously been licensed to preach by the church in Jefferson).

The program for the ordination, on Wednesday, Oct. 4, was an elaborate one. To quote from the records, "The whole performance was held in an open field, (probably in the field between the barn on the William Meservey place, now owned by Mr. Richardson and where so many of the town meetings were held, and the schoolhouse in district number two), on a stage erected for the purpose, the weather being favorable, a large and very respectable assembly of people were collected & the utmost decency & good order was observed through the whole performance."

Until the erection of the church in its present location, in 1845, regular Sabbath and monthly meetings were held alternately at the schoolhouses in No. 1 in Hope, and No. 1 and No. 2, on the Ridge.

Rev. Abiathar Richardson, the first settled pastor, was evidently called to the church before he removed from Jefferson to Appleton. He changed farms with William Meservey, who had been a leader in plantation affairs before he removed to the former town. For a full quarter of a century, Mr. Richardson, who came to Appleton at the age of 46 years, was pastor of the church and also an itinerant minister, often preaching afternoons and evenings in the neighboring towns and plantations. It appears that, at one time, he and Phineas Butler withdrew their membership in the church in Appleton for the purpose of establishing a church in Union, but their efforts failed and no church of the Baptist denomination has ever been organized in that town; but Mr. Richardson continued to preach at Appleton and soon resumed his membership in this church.

Mr. Richardson was evidently a man of affairs, and this fact may possibly account for his long pastorate among a primitive and practical people. He was, at the same time, minister of the gospel; farmer; lumberman; and merchant. And he also found time to serve the town as highway surveyor, school agent, moderator, selectman, treasurer, school committee member, and twice representative to the Legislature, in 1825 and again in 1829. He had previously been a captain in the War of 1812.

Under the leadership of Mr. Richardson, at a meeting held at the house of Levi Butler, on Christmas Day, in 1843, steps were taken to incorporate the parish as The First Baptist Society in Appleton, and to erect a church edifice. Uriah N. Dyer, (Deacon) Oliver Butler, and Jedediah Simmons were made a committee to superintend the construction. Noah Sprague was the master builder.

After the completion of the church, a committee of seven members, of which Benjamin McLain was chairman, made an appeal for the gift of a bell, to Samuel Appleton, a wealthy merchant of Boston, as a memorial to his father, for whom the town was supposed by them to have been named, and upon the ground that he was abundantly able to make this gift and that he was well known for his generosity. In his reply, he stated that his father, Israel Appleton, had lived and died on a small farm in New Ipswich, N. H.; that as far as he knew, he had never been in the State of Maine; and that he had probably never heard of the town of Appleton. However, he, himself, about 60 years before, was among the first settlers of Hope, then called Barrettstown; had carried provisions on his back through the woods marked by spotted trees to the log house which was at that time his home, on a lot of land near where Reuben Safford built a house on his land; (the James Hall place). He must decline to give a bell in memory of his father, under false pretext; but, it was true that Providence had been kind to him; that for the three summers that he had lived within three or four miles of the site of the new church, he had never heard the sound of a church bell or a sermon or the voice of prayer. For these reasons, he would gladly present the church with a suitable bell, if the committee would send him a definite statement of their needs.

It seems altogether probable that Mr. Appleton was at least related to Nathaniel Appleton, for whom the town was doubtless named; for Charles Barrett, who was associated with the elder Appleton in the company known as the Twenty Associates and who gave his name to Barrettstown, came to Hope from New Ipswich, where Samuel Appleton and his father were born. It is not improbable that Nathaniel Appleton was the grandfather of Samuel, for whom he might very properly have given the bell as a memorial.

The Union Church was erected a little later, just after the annexation of the western part of Hope, in 1847 or 1848. One of the builders was William Carlin; others were Willis Fish, Alden Andrews and Cyrus Simmons. Prominent among its active workers were many of the older Gushues, Nathan Hawkes and his wife, and many others living on the eastern side of the River. In it have preached, in the early days of its history, such men as Rev. F. V. Norcross, Methodist of Union, and Rev. Mr. Nash, for many years pastor of the Universalist Church at Camden. For more than three-quarters of a century, this church has been open for religious services held under the auspices of many different denominations and for public meetings of various kinds. Unfortunately the records of the society are not available, so that a more detailed account of its activities cannot be given. The names of Shaw Gushue and Nathan Hawkes and his wife are intimately associated with this church.

It is probable that, in the original plantation the burying-grounds were private until Sept. 13, 1824, it was "voted to buy half an acre of ground, of Noah Sprague for a Burying Ground at ten dollars the Plantation to fence the same and Sprague to have the grass." A few years later, the grass was sold in open town meeting to Charles A. Keene for $249.

The first person to be buried in this cemetery was the first wife of Abiathar Richardson, in 1825. The second, and buried on the same lot, was Rev. Thomas Eames, who died at the age of 55 years. It is probable that he had been an early preacher, but not a settled pastor, at the Baptist Church; and Mr. Richardson, then pastor, had him buried on his lot.

In the same year, 1824, it was "Voted to buy half an Acre of ground of Ebenezer Robbins for Two dollars Under the same Restriction of Sprague said half acre to be the western side of the Road the corner of the Sprague to be above the Road adjoining John Macomber on the Southeast Corner of said Sprague's Land."

In 1833, it was voted to accept the burying ground near Asa Harrington's and to have the deed to the same recorded. The burying ground near the Joshua Lincoln's was also accepted and purchased for $10.

The cemetery is probably as old as any in town. The Quaker burying ground, on the farm now owned by Fred Demuth, was hardly occupied before the building of the Quaker meeting house in 1832, since the church was located near this place. In 1868, the church was moved to the land of Milton Robbins and forms a part of the house now standing on that farm. In the graveyard lies buried John Davis, who died Dec. 3, 1835, at the age of 72 years. Other unmarked graves may be somewhat older.

On the 6th of December, 1819, the inhabitants of the Plantation of Appleton assembled according to the warrant, as the law directs, "To see if they will accept of the Constitution as presented for organizing the District of Maine into an Independent State from Massachusetts Proper." The votes were given in as follows: "For receiving the measures prescribed by the Convention, 18 votes; against the same, not any." As early as 1816, Hope had voted against the separation of Maine from Massachusetts by a vote of 14 for and 39 against the establishment of an independent State.

Similarly, in 1843, George Lermond was chosen as a special agent of the town of Hope, to send to the Legislature at Augusta to oppose the annexation of the westerly part of the town of Hope to the town of Appleton. Representative Muzzy was also instructed to "use all fair and honorable means to prevent a division of the town of Hope."

The records of the town make little reference to the change from plantation to town government. It appears that William Linekin was the representative to the Legislature in 1828. It is probable, but not certain, that he introduced the bill; but there is no evidence that he or anybody else received instructions from the voters.

The bill for incorporation received final passage Jan. 28, 1829. It was entitled "An Act to incorporate the town of Appleton and described the limits of the plantation; conferred upon the town all the powers, privileges and immunities enjoyed by other towns of the State; authorized the calling of town meetings; and made provision that the town should continue to have the same representation in the Legislature as under the plantation form of government."

The bill was signed by George Evans, Speaker of the House of Representatives; Nathan Cutler, President of the Senate; and Enoch Lincoln, Governor.

The first town meeting was held April 13, 1829, in the "old schoolhouse," on the farm now owned by O. W. Currier, with Asa Harrington as moderator. George Pease, was Rufus Miller, Henry Meservey and Asa Harrington were elected to the offices of selectmen, assessors and overseers of poor; William Linekin was chosen as treasurer; and Charles A. Keene was collector of taxes. Otis Hawes, Alexander Kiff and Alexander Pease were school committee. The other minor town offices were filled, and no further business was transacted; neither was any record made of the change from plantation to town government. Surely, after a century has passed, it is high time to celebrate the event of the incorporation of the town of Appleton."

Appleton seems to have taken no very active part in the matter of the proposed division and the annexation until after action upon the petition of certain inhabitants of Hope had been taken by the Legislature. The following abstract of the town records tell clearly and concisely the story of the relations between the two towns during this period: "The Selectmen of Appleton in obedience to an Act passed by the Legislature of Maine in February (20th) 1843 have notified the Selectmen of Hope to run a line to set off a part of Hope and annex the same to Appleton. We likewise met them according to previous notice on the 29th day of February 1843 and proceeded to measure from the southwest corner between Hope and Appleton on the line between Hope and Union two miles & one quarter & made a corner, also from the northeast corner between said Appleton & Hope on Seamsfoot line one mile & three quarters to an ash tree. We then proceeded to run a straight line from Seamsfoot line to Union line agreeable to said act passed February 1843. William Meservey, Mathias Ulmer, Paul Metcalf, Selectmen of Appleton. March 9, 1843.

April 3, 1843, met in Abiathar Richardson's barn, Mathias Ulmer, moderator voted to adjourn to William Linekin's hall at McLain's Mills forthwith. Jan. 14, 1844, at a meeting in Joseph Richardson's cooper shop, Noah Sprague, moderator, it was voted to send Mathias Ulmer to Augusta to file the petition of the inhabitants of the westerly part of town of Hope & Memorial of the inhabitants of the town of Appleton praying that a part of said Hope may be set off and annexed to the town of Appleton. It was voted to give Mr. Ulmer fifty cents a day and pay his expenses. Voted that the Selectmen instruct our Representative respecting the division of Hope (Nathan Worthington)."

At this first meeting following the annexation, these names appear: William Hasty (Hasty's tavern), David R. Gushue, Oliver Butler, John Humphrey (town clerk), Gushue & Butler, Sch. Com., Isaac Conant, William F. Morang, Abraham Gushue, William Colamore, Samuel Pease, John Pease, Jedediah Simmons, Francis Keating, John Arnold, Benjamin and Samuel Brown, Charles A. Keene, Howland Keene, Zenas Shepherd, Josiah I. Counce, Jacob Shupard, Phineas Fogg, Timothy Weymouth. There were a few of the many names of men who were more or less prominent in the affairs of the town at this period of our history. Many of them had come in from Hope by annexation; others by removal from other towns; and still others, comparatively young men, who were beginning to take the places of their fathers who had gone. Among these was M. P. Hanly who, in 1852, at the age of 39 years, was a candidate for representative. The vote was as follows: Andrew Burkett, 138; Michael Hanly, 133; Jacob Shepard, 7; John Arnold, 18; Ambrose Arnold, 8. Several years before, Mr. Hanly's first public office was that of highway surveyor, being named in by his father, "Squire" John Hanly.

TALK OF THE TOWN

Letter Carrier Fred L. Derby is having a vacation until next Monday.

The broken shaft of the steamer Southport was being repaired at Snow's this week.

Mrs. Annie B. Davis of Warren, who is employed at the Thordike Hotel, is driving a new Chevrolet coupe.

At Wednesday night's meeting of the City Government an order was passed prohibiting the parking of motor cars on Lincoln street from Beech to Summer.

Miss Shirley Glidden is employed at the Fashion Shoppe, her return to a Main street clerkship after a long stay at home on account of illness in the family being hailed by friends.

Excessive heat in the month of August led seven persons to put away more booze than was good for them, and this accounts for seven of the 17 arrests made by the police department in that period.

Knox County's share in the payment for the new bridge which is about to be erected on the stretch of highway between Thomaston and Warren is $27,000. County Treasurer Dow received notification to that effect this week.

These members of the auxiliary of Winslow-Holbrook Post A. L. attended the convention in Orono: Mrs. Hazen Haskell, Mrs. Sarah Griffin, Mrs. Elizabeth Barton, Mrs. Electa Philbrook, Mrs. Norah Benner, Mrs. Susie Lamb, and Mrs. C. F. Snow.

Belfast Journal: Mrs. Robert W. Rollins has succeeded Mrs. S. S. L. Shute, who resigned recently as manager of the Hat and Dress shop owned by Harry Berman of Rockland. Mrs. Shute will continue her newspaper work at her home on Park street.

Alden Ulmer, Jr., who has been employed at the Joyce Buick Service Station, Commonwealth avenue, Boston, the past six weeks, has returned home, and next Monday will reopen his automobile repair shop on Park street, adjoining the Maine Central freight yard.

What has become of the old-time tight rope walkers who used to hold our citizens breathless as they walked from one rooftop to another across Main street? And what has become of the street fakirs who used to hold forth nightly in front of Ulmer's stable on Limerock street and in front of the Lindsey House?

Miss Eleanor Tibbets of Claremont street has a very unusual pet in the form of a young bat, which has been given free rental in the Tibbets bird house and which is taking its meals in bed until such time as its wings become sufficiently strong for it to embark on its nightly excursions. The bat's diet at the present time consists of milk administered with a "dropper."

The City Government committee on Public Works has authorized the construction of cement concrete sidewalks on the following streets: Limerock, from Broad to Broadway; North Main, from Warren to James; Union, from Willow to Talbot avenue; Park, from the brook to the Buick garage; South Main, from section already built, to the Claremont. The abutments are to pay one-half of the cost.

The Reach Granite Company has been organized in Vinalhaven to do a general granite quarrying business, received approval of its papers of incorporation at the office of the attorney general. The company is capitalized at $100,000, all common; par value per share $100; the home office of the corporation is located at Vinalhaven and the directors, all residents of Vinalhaven are: President, Ambrose A. Peterson; treasurer and clerk, Ralph L. Brown; Herbert W. Fifield, Andrew M. Gassie.

From all parts of the city comes report of the nuisance of damaged gardens and lawns, and unpleasant personal experiences. It is true that the pests are protected by law, for the sake of commercial gain, but the animals may be slain when found to be damaging property. A man who resides in the extreme northern part of the city sneaked carefully into the back door the other night when he found a mother skunk and five of her children in possession of his lawn.

The executive board of the Knox County Fish & Game Association recently held a very pleasant session at Virgil F. Studley's cottage, Megunticook Lake. Among the guests were Dr. Charles Cadman of Philadelphia and Camden, who was made an honorary member of the board. Other guests were Senator Dwinall, L. E. Wardwell and Supervisor Joseph Stickney. Mr. Stickney showed two reels of motion picture films, one of which dealt with a bald eagle which Mr. Stickney caught during the summer at considerable effort and peril. The matter of putting out estimates of pheasant eggs was discussed. Dr. W. P. Conley will arrange to furnish the eggs to those who wish to assist in raising the birds. Other subjects discussed were the Gribbel auxiliary game preserve and vermin control. The supper was prepared by Charles G. Hewett and John W. Thompson, who proved to the sportsmen that they have an excellent idea of what the inner man craves.

MRS. ANNE SNOW'S REPORT

Former Head of American Legion Auxiliary Reviews Important Work of the Past Year

To the officers and members of the American Legion Auxiliary, Department of Maine, in convention assembled. It is with a feeling of deep appreciation for you as individuals and friends that I address you and render to you a brief record of my service during the past year. There is much that I could say of the help I have received from the officers and members of the Auxiliary, the inspiration you have all been to me. I thank you one and all for the hearty, efficient co-operation you have given me. I wish there was time to name individually all the members who have so wholeheartedly and unselfishly supported the program of the Auxiliary during the year, but to do so would be almost like calling the roll of the units and their members. Whatever accomplishments have been achieved by this Department, whether large or small, the entire credit is due to those who have so loyally supported the Auxiliary program. May I ask you to continue this unselfish, wholehearted support during the next year, that the incoming administration may reach a higher standard of service, that Maine may be one of the leading Departments of the entire organization.

I appreciate very much having been sent as delegate to the San Antonio convention for it was most instructive and gave me much information necessary to carry out the National program in this Department.

I also attended the conference of Department Presidents and Secretaries held in Indianapolis in December. This is a new project in the Auxiliary. National pays the expenses of the Department Presidents and it is recommended that the Departments pay the expenses of Department Secretaries. It was an inspiration to attend this meeting and meet the National officers, the Department officers and Legionnaires who are leaders in the National program, and to listen to an outline of the year's work. I hope next year the Department will send the Secretary with the President. It helps all throughout the year in directing the work.

We have held a very successful membership contest this year. The results will be announced by the Membership Chairman. I congratulate you. Let us try to keep up the good work. Let us tie up our activities with all the real welfare work in the State, that the general public may realize the object for which we are organized and want to join our ranks. It will be easy to get members if we are a worth-while organization.

I have had the honor of installing officers in nine units. I have reorganized one unit, organized one unit, attended conferences in four districts, contacted 35 units, attended Area, A Child welfare conference in Boston and Area, A Rehabilitation conference at the Bedford Hospital, attended nearly every child welfare meeting of our Joint Child Welfare committee.

It was my privilege to help establish the poppy work room at the National Soldiers' Home in Augusta, to visit with the disabled boys who make their home there. It would have been impossible to carry on this work if the former officers of the Department had not built up a welfare fund sufficient to meet the expenses incurred weekly prior to the receipt of funds from Unit poppy orders. It is absolutely necessary to meet the poppy pay roll promptly. We are dealing with disabled men, and confidence in our integrity is of great moment in this undertaking.

I cannot refrain from mentioning some incidents in connection with this matter. Our funds were low and I felt that we would have to close the shop at the end of the first two weeks and reopen when funds were available. I talked the matter over with one of the officials of the Home; he was as distressed over the situation as I was, and said: "Please don't close down until the work is completed, the men are so interested and the work has been a Godsend to them." Asked if I would allow him to take the matter up with a group of brother officers, thought they could advance a loan to the Department out of their pay. I explained how much I appreciated the offer but I felt I could not accept it. Then one of our own members, a widow, who knew of our work, sent me checks to cover the pay roll, would not allow me to tell of her offer of assistance. I didn't need to use her checks, thanks to some orders being received. When I tell you these things perhaps you will realize the importance of this work. Some of you are contemplating cutting down your orders because you didn't sell all the poppies this year. If you ordered four thousand and paid $92.00 for them and received in your sale $300.00, even if you have some poppies left you've more than doubled your money. Can't you use the flowers left over in Memorial work and give the boys the privilege of making the same number of poppies next year?

In visiting the Units there have been many striking evidences of the spirit of service among the members of the organization. One unit of 23 members sent regularly for nine months $10.00 a month toward the support of a disabled buddy's family, contributed $25.00 as an emergency gift to this same buddy, sent Christmas boxes of clothing and toys.

A member of one of the units is a trained nurse. There is no resident physician in the locality. The President of her Unit told me the nurse had declined an invitation to visit her former home in the South last winter because her services were needed in town. "She can give first aid and dress wounds, etc., you know, Mrs. Snow." Such unselfish service deserves mention. The members of this small unit take turns filling the offices and are active in all community activities. There are many other noteworthy actions that could be mentioned, but time will not permit. I am proud to be counted a member of the American Legion Auxiliary.

I have visited the men at the Marine Hospital and many of their families. The members of the Units in and around Portland have visited these men regularly, arranged entertainments for them and furnished good cheer. They have reported to the rehabilitation chairman from time to time enabling her to keep in touch with the families of these men. The units carried out a Christmas program for the disabled hospitalized men this year which I hope may be enlarged next year. If each member of the Auxiliary would contribute ten cents to the Christmas fund we would have over $300.00 available for this work. We raised by contributions less than $100.00 this year.

Maine contributed her full quota, $359.20, to the Special National Rehabilitation Fund, to help secure compensation for deserving disabled veterans.

The publicity, under the able direction of our Department Chairman, has brought the Auxiliary before the public. The poppy program was broadcast over the radio from both Portland and Bangor stations. The members of the press have been very courteous and we appreciate highly the space given to reports of our many activities.

In closing, I should like to recommend that a Department Child Welfare and Rehabilitation committee be formed to consist of three members, one to serve one year, one two years, one three years, length of service to be determined by lot. After this year, 1930, one member to be appointed each year for two years. This would give continuity of service and make the work more efficient.

I would recommend that each Unit set aside the money now for next year's poppy order and notify the Department Secretary as soon as possible the number required. This would insure money available when the work shop opens. The poppy program deserves the support of every member of our organization.

ANNE F. SNOW,
Department President

CENTRAL MAINE POWER CO.

W. S. Wyman, President
W. B. Skelton, Vice President

Develop Maine's resources!

The power of a million horses runs wild and unused down Maine rivers to the sea, and is wasted.

That power, harnessed, would pay taxes, build farm lines and bring new industries to Maine.

The surest way to get new industries in Maine is to have ample developed power to offer them, and the way to stimulate the development of water power in large amounts is to give Maine Power Companies an opportunity to sell their waste product, SURPLUS POWER.

That is ALL the Surplus Power Export Law allows.

Maine wants new industries . . . industries which will bring in new payrolls . . . industries which will create new wealth.

Vote for Maine progress!

"Shall the act to provide for the exportation of surplus power, as defined and restricted in such act, permitting the sale outside of Maine of hydro-electric power not needed in Maine, be accepted?"

MRS. LAMB'S REPORT

Showing What American Legion Auxiliary Does For Rehabilitation

One of the most important features of Legion Auxiliary work, in its effort to be of service to the Legion, is its rehabilitation department. Mrs. Susie F. Lamb of Rockland has given consecrated and effective service, says a Bangor newspaper commenting upon her report as presented at the convention in Orono. She is approachable, companionable and is gifted with an understanding heart and a seeing eye—one of the sort of people whom others can tell their troubles to—who can sympathize without over-sympathizing. Mrs. Mrs. Lamb shuns publicity for herself but is willing to do most anything, even be interviewed for the paper, for the "good of our wonderful organization," she says.

"All the Units have done more rehabilitation work this year than ever before."

"One little woman, the mother of four children and with a disabled husband, writes me: 'The day before the Fourth I found I had twenty-five cents in money and two dozen eggs in the house. All four children old enough to know the Fourth was a holiday and wanted to celebrate. In the late afternoon a machine stopped in front of my house and out hopped the president of the C — Unit with another member just loaded down with bundles. I was almost rude. I'm afraid, for Mrs. Lamb, I was so overwhelmed all I could see was a big watermelon and the joy in those bundles for my babies! I stood in the doorway, never offering to take a bundle and seem to recall saying, 'Well, you seem to have your arms full.' When I think of it I feel so ashamed. But I was just overcome with the spirit of it all. They were so kind and seemed to make me feel so full of things I can't express.'"

In her resume of the work done throughout the State may be mentioned the following items:

"Vinalhaven has done outstanding work, a Unit of about 36 members. It has sent a check for ten dollars for nine months to a family with an additional Easter gift of twenty-five dollars. They have sent clothing, toys and Christmas goodies to needy families and have met all their obligations to National Department."

"Skowhegan, a Unit of about 42 members, has sent a five-dollar

LAKEWOOD ITEMS

Maine's own star, Adeyn Bushnell, who received an uproarious welcome in "Dulcy" a short time back, will again be a guest star at Lakewood the week of Sept. 16 in "Tiger Rose," Willard Mack's famous melodrama of the Northwest, which was originally produced in New York by Belasco. Miss Bushnell hails from Thomaston, and her whole career has been one of splendid achievement. She has won high honor as a writer, to which she is devoting much of her time these days. Her play, "Against the Law," was seen recently in Boston and "Thicker Than Water" will be done on Broadway during the fall season. She is the author of a long line of popular one-act plays and vaudeville sketches. That this brilliant and versatile Maine girl has again consented to break into a strict literary schedule to star with The Lakewood Players is indeed a bit of glorious good fortune.

Claiborne Foster, one of the foremost young actresses of the day, who has achieved much distinction on Broadway in such successes as "The Patsy," "Applesauce" and "Sinner" will be seen at Lakewood the week of Sept. 9 in "Love Me—Love My Dog."

There have been rumors to the effect that "Applesauce" by Barry Connors may be presented at Lakewood the week of Sept. 23. The play enjoyed a long run on Broadway not long ago with Claiborne Foster in the stellar role, and is a delightfully refreshing comedy of American home life.

Governor William Tudor Gardiner with Mrs. Gardiner and a party of friends, saw a mid-week performance of the Norman Bel Geddes presentation of "Hamlet" at Lakewood, and before the week was done, two ex-Governors of Maine, Percival Baxter and Ralph Brewster, were added to the long list of noted people to view the most extraordinary production ever offered by any dramatic institution in the country.

monthly check for four months to Department for Welfare work.

"Gardiner, a Unit of 28 members, led in its gift of supplies for Walter Reid Hospital work, for this State.

"Westbrook and South Portland have record of doing largest amount of hospital work. Although other Units have given splendid hospital service, these two lead in this work."

"I call the Poppy Work-Shop a good kind of rehabilitation work."
